Reflecting in gold, a serpent's gaze,
find the mirror that holds mysterious ways.

Seek the sign for a hidden gateway where magic abounds,
a platform between worlds where the enchanted
train sounds.

To travel far with just a word,
This powder is your key, absurd.
Near a place where flames dance bright,
You'll find a jar that's in plain sight.

Peer through the lenses,
with eyes keen and bright,
to spy on creatures
hidden from sight.

Raise a glass to merriment and cheer, seek the container where butterbeer flows near.

Look for the curtain, a scene so grand,
Of students arriving in a magical land.
Outside the shower, this story is told,
A clue to find, worth its weight in gold.

Seek out the stone entrance,
a gateway to the unknown,
Where the dragon's labyrinth stands,
in the forest overgrown.

In a place of mystery, where paths entwine,
A giant blade in the ground, a sight divine.
Near a labyrinth's twists and turns so grand,
The object awaits, buried in the land.

In front of the entrance, majestic and grand,
A proud buck stands, noble and grand.
Amongst the trees, a fortress not old,
Find the building with stories untold.

Within the ancient stones,
where magic is rife,
find the center piece
that holds the circle's life.

At the labyrinth's end,
where twists and turns do blend,
a fiery beast awaits,
with scales that never bend.

Where the groundskeeper dwells,
with a heart as big as his size,
find the humble abode
that's a sight for sore eyes.

In The Forgotten Forest, where magic thrives,
A familiar purple transporter arrives.
Look for the wheels that shimmer and gleam,
Find this location where wizards dream.

Where the hobbits dwell in cozy delight, look for the sign that reads 'Howard's Hollow' in sight.

In the depths of the Forgotten Forest's embrace,
An object for wishing awaits in a tranquil space.
Near a picnic area where memories swell,
Find the object where wishes dwell.

At the entrance, his presence looms,
A protector in the forest's gloom.
Seek out the giant, in armor bright,
near the picnic area he'll be in sight.

Where weary travelers seek respite and cheer,
look for the sign that says 'The Spellbound Inn'
near.
